Combat Hoarding

Aid in Movement to Put Idle Money at Work
The National Campaign to end hoarding has gathered considerable momentum with the launching of a week of concerted educational efforts to be made through the press, placards, advertising, and through attention given the subject in churches, theatres and public gatherings.

That the movement is accomplishing its desired purpose is evidenced through the many examples and cases which have been drawn to the attention of the headquarters of various associations participating in the campaign.

Some unusual cases of hoarding have been reported. One case was of a man who had acquired at a hardware store for a "sounding" device which would detect buried metal. In explanation of questions asked him, the man stated that he had buried all of his savings in a piece of lead pipe and was now unable to locate the pipe.

Another case was that of a boy who was unable to remain quiet in school and could not refrain from squirming in his seat. Becoming the object of suspicion, the boy was examined and it was found that $5,000 in bills was sewn to the boy's underwear.

Accounts from other sources tell of money dated prior to the Civil War now going into circulation. One dollar in hoarding since the Civil War, it will have been properly invested, would now be worth approximately $29.00.

Do suppose the Combat Hoarding movement, the following are suggested recommendations, namely: 1. Pay debts. 2. Buy normally. 3. Place savings in savings account of some bank in which you have confidence. 4. Invest in good enterprises, stocks, bonds, or real estate. 5. Purchase A. B. C. or American Express business or buy into one already established. 6. Start a good legitimate business or buy into one already established. 7. If necessary, deposit money in Postal Savings accounts.

If all of the citizen institutions and business enterprises in the U. S. made a maximum effort to turn their currency and gold into bank deposits, cash in the hands of banks would increase by at least two billion dollars, would increase twenty billion dollars, a sufficient amount to set in motion a greater business boom than we have as yet experienced.

Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

The "Prosperity Sale Days" sale, which proved very successful and an announcement of appreciation appears in another column. Read it.

The H. S. Melcher Co. of Portland have announced in this issue announcing the Baxter line of canned goods are for sale at the Jackson Greenleaf Co. store. See ad.

Dallas Benson remembers "the old man" with sample files—sure killers. He also remembers we keep off closed books. Don't you, suppose he'll ever forget?

Attention was called first of the week, as out of town and Main St. The car here the sign "Fire Department" and was parked for a long time on the left hand side of the street, with the engine pointing down the street and the front of the car facing the street.

The car is so accustomed to attending fires that it took its place, sort of second nature. We wonder what would have happened had the fire alarm rung.

News from Mrs. Alma Pendexter Hayden, of Rochester, N. Y., a former teacher in Norway:

The visit of former Gov. Carl E. Milliken of Maine, who attended the funeral of the Eastman yesterday, recalled the days when my sisters and I were students at the Maine Central Institute at Brunswick, Maine. Gov. Milliken's mother, "Miss Knowlton," was preceptor of the institute during our course at this private school and we recited to her in some of our studies. Carl Milliken afterwards graduated there.

My sister, Bertha, met him at an alumnae reunion when she gave an evening of readings a few years ago. She is still interested in dramatics and is giving a special this spring for her pupils.

A book of verse and my "Soldier Songs" have had a place in the exhibition of the Historical Society for some time and they asked for my picture this winter. The city historian wrote me he had placed it with the pictures of "other distinguished citizens of Rochester."

A friend of mine, who was active in the M. J. C. movement, sent her copy of my "Soldier Songs" to the Congressional Library at Washington and read me a very appreciative reply, over the phone, from the librarian who wrote that Mrs. Hayden's poems were an acquisition to the library. All very nice, but it doesn't buy me a postage stamp!

I heard the Eastman services over the radio.

My son-in-law has been in the office department at Kodak Park for some time, is intensely interested and expects to remain permanently. He likes it better than teaching in college.

There had an old birthday, the oldest ever, but my memory is still good and I don't forget Norway and my old friends wherever they may be.

With kindest remembrances of the old days.

Alma Pendexter Hayden.

The adjourned corporation meeting will be held Tuesday evening, March 22, at 7:30 p. m., to act on articles in regard to changing fire alarm whistle.

Ralph Gilbert, a young man, who removed his hat when he came into the store to leave his foil has the thanks of all and the ear marks of good breeding.

Special Easter rates on the Grand Trunk have been announced. The reduction is in force from Thursday until Sunday and tickets valid to return not later than Tuesday afternoon.

There will be a meeting of the Norway-Town Baseball Association at Legion Hall, Norway, Tuesday evening, March 22, at 7:30, to discuss ways and means to get a team in the Pine Tree League, this summer. Everybody welcome.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Hunt have given their rest over the Marigold Tea Room where they have been living this winter and are with Mr. Hunt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Hunt, at Norway Center, for a short time.

On the evening of his 18th birthday, Henry Dyer was treated to a surprise party by his mother, Mrs. Alfred J. Dyer. In order to have the affair a surprise, Mrs. W. S. Sloan invited him to her home in the village for supper and he rather guessed that there might be a surprise there, but he had another kind of a surprise when he found there was no party there. Returning home cursing more than he dreamed, as Mrs. Sloan had an "engagement out" he was sent to his room to see what he might find and was hilariously greeted by a group of his classmates who had gathered during his absence. Mrs. Dyer served a lunch in the dining room, which was decorated for St. Patrick, and the place cards were all with keepings. Mrs. Sloan had a birthday cake, illuminated with candles, made by Mrs. Sloan. There was a variety bowl full of fun, games and music. Many gifts were presented to the birthday boy. In the gathering were Robert Goodwin, George Smith, Orel Brown, Bernard Hardins, Francis Wiles, Ursula Gammon, Daniel Dulles and Wesley Dyer.

Norway Churches

The choir will consist of a group of choirs from each one of the churches. Two gentlemen from the Baptist Church will render a duet of vocal music. Also two gentlemen from the Methodist Church will sing together, and Miss Frances McAlister will bring a specially arranged program of songs. Rev. Mr. Newton will be sure to bring a brief, but powerful Easter message of truth. This early service will be entirely in the hands of the young people, but everybody is cordially welcome. Miss Ona Yates, our always willing organist, will sound out the morning blaze of Easter music in an opening prelude and will also accompany the choir and congregational singing at the pipe organ. Service promptly closes at 7 o'clock.

The regular Easter Sunday morning services will be held in the church at 10:30. There will be a program of especially arranged music by the adult vested choir. It is hoped that Arthur Morgan will again play a correct solo. Last Sunday Mr. Morgan played that Easterlike masterpiece "The Palms," accompanied by the pipe organ and it was an exceptional treat for all. The male trio of song by Dr. Tyler, Irving Joslin and Mr. Morgan last Sunday was one of the very finest selections rendered in a long time. Very much praise was forthcoming for the Palm Sunday choir presentations. Easter Sunday will even surpass all other musical selections. In the afternoon at 10:30, the minister will bring the Easter Day message and immediately following the brief preaching episode there is to be administered to the immature during our course at this private school and we recited to her in some of our studies. Carl Milliken afterwards graduated there.

EAST OTISFIELD

Perceval C. Greenleaf passed away at the home of his son, Ernest Greenleaf, Sunday afternoon, about 4 o'clock, following a long illness of heart trouble. He was born in Otisfield, October 17, 1858, son of Samuel K. and Eliza S. (Davis) Greenleaf. He leaves to mourn their loss, his wife, who was Miss Hattie Belle Holden of Norway, and four sons, Ernest L. and Harley E., of Otisfield; Francis H. Greenleaf of Lewiston and William H. of Portland, and several grandchildren. His brothers, William and Elbridge of Auburn, and two sisters, Mrs. Carrie Union of Providence, R. I., and Mrs. Augusta Haskell of Auburn. Mr. Greenleaf was a kind husband and father and during his long illness was patient, never complaining and ever thoughtful of others. He was a member of the Free Baptist Church of Otisfield in which he had held the position as deacon for many years. He took a deep interest in all the town affairs.

Mr. Greenleaf was one of Otisfield's leading citizens, having served as representative to Legislature in 1914, also a member of the school board and selectmen of town. To say he was a much respected citizen would be falling far short of the esteem and love for him that is held by a large circle of friends.

Funeral services were held at Baptist Church, Otisfield, Wednesday, at 9 o'clock p. m.

He was a descendant of one of the pioneers of this town, his paternal grandfather, William Greenleaf, was born in Medford, Mass., March 15, 1785, came to Otisfield when eight years of age. In his early manhood, William purchased a farm near Spurr's Corner, being one of the first to settle in that locality. After clearing his land, he engaged in farming thereon until his death, July 28, 1862.

His wife was born April 24, 1784, and died March 21, 1869. Samuel, son of William, was born in Otisfield, March 15, 1818, came to Otisfield when eight years of age.
